ETP Webinars

Did you know WIPS processes more than just Quarterly and Annual Performance Reports? This month provided the opportunity to learn more about Eligible Training Provider Reports (ETPs), a WIPS-processed report, through a series of webinars hosted by Department of Labor's own ETP subject matter experts. The first webinar of the series, hosted September 17th, provided a deeper understanding to the performance requirements for Eligible Training Providers (ETPs), including the performance factors for determining initial and continued eligibility and ETP performance reporting, while also providing insight about the necessary tools for reporting on ETPs. Continuing the discussion, a follow-up webinar is planned for early October to provide an open forum to address any questions that may have surfaced either during or after the initial informational webinar

If you missed out on the first occurrence of the series, there is no need to fret. A recording of the September 17th webinar will be posted online on the following website for your convenience. Additionally, the presentation material can also be found attached to this newsletter and by following the link for the webinar below.
